57 pages have duplicate meta descriptions

About this issue: Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate meta descriptions only if they are exact matches. A <meta description> tag is a short summary of a webpage's content that helps search engines understand what the page is about and can be shown to users in search results. Duplicate meta descriptions on different pages mean a lost opportunity to use more relevant keywords. Also, duplicate meta descriptions make it difficult for search engines and users to differentiate between different webpages. It is better to have no meta description at all than to have a duplicate one. How to fix: Provide a unique, relevant meta description for each of your webpages. For information on how to create effective meta descriptions, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>

45 pages have duplicate content issues

About this issue: Webpages are considered duplicates if their content is 85% identical. Having duplicate content may significantly affect your SEO performance. First of all, Google will typically show only one duplicate page, filtering other instances out of its index and search results, and this page may not be the one you want to rank. In some cases, search engines may consider duplicate pages as an attempt to manipulate search engine rankings and, as a result, your website may be downgraded or even banned from search results. Moreover, duplicate pages may dilute your link profile. How to fix. Here are a few ways to fix duplicate content issues: 1. Add a rel="canonical" link to one of your duplicate pages to inform search engines which page to show in search results. 2. Use a 301 redirect from a duplicate page to the original one. 3. Use a rel="next" and a rel="prev" link attribute to fix pagination duplicates. 4. Instruct GoogleBot to handle URL parameters differently using Google Search Console. 5. Provide some unique content on the webpage. For more information, please read these articles: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/66359?hl=en> and <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/139066?hl=en>

42 issues with duplicate title tags

About this issue: Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate title tags only if they are exact matches. Duplicate <title> tags make it difficult for search engines to determine which of a website's pages is relevant for a specific search query, and which one should be prioritized in search results. Pages with duplicate titles have a lower chance of ranking well and are at risk of being banned. Moreover, identical <title> tags confuse users as to which webpage they should follow. How to fix: Provide a unique and concise title for each of your pages that contains your most important keywords. For information on how to create effective titles, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>

30 pages don't have title tags

About this issue: A <title> tag is a key on-page SEO element. It appears in browsers and search results, and helps both search engines and users understand what your page is about. If a page is missing a title, or a <title> tag is empty, Google may consider it low quality. In case you promote this page in search results, you will miss chances to rank high and gain a higher click-through rate. How to fix: Ensure that every page on your website has a unique and concise title containing your most important keywords. For information on how to create effective titles, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>

1 issue with mixed content

About this issue: If your website contains any elements that are not secured with HTTPS, this may lead to security issues. Moreover, browsers will warn users about loading unsecure content, and this may negatively affect user experience and reduce their confidence in your website. How to fix: Only embed HTTPS content on HTTPS pages. Replace all HTTP links with the new HTTPS versions. If there are any external links leading to a page that has no HTTPS version, remove those links.

1 issue with broken internal JavaScript and CSS files

About this issue: A broken JavaScript or CSS file is an issue that should be watched out for on your website. Any script that has stopped running on your website may jeopardize your rankings, since search engines will not be able to properly render and index your webpages. Moreover, broken JS and CSS files may cause website errors, and this will certainly spoil your user experience. How to fix: Review all broken JavaScript and CSS files hosted on your website and fix any issues.

1572 issues with unminified JavaScript and CSS files

About this issue: Minification is the process of removing unnecessary lines, white space and comments from the source code. Minifying JavaScript and CSS files makes their size smaller, thereby decreasing your page load time, providing a better user experience and improving your search engine rankings. For more information, please see this Google article <https://developers.google.com/web/fundamentals/performance/optimizing-content-efficiency>. How to fix: Minify your JavaScript and CSS files. If your webpage uses CSS and JS files that are hosted on an external site, contact the website owner and ask them to minify their files. If this issue doesn't affect your page load time, simply ignore it.

1572 ⁰

350 URLs with a temporary redirect

About this issue: Temporary redirects (i.e., a 302 and a 307 redirect) mean that a page has been temporarily moved to a new location. Search engines will continue to index the redirected page, and no link juice or traffic is passed to the new page, which is why temporary redirects can damage your search rankings if used by mistake. How to fix: Review all URLs to make sure the use of 302 and 307 redirects is justified. If so, don't forget to remove them when they are no longer needed. However, if you permanently move any page, replace a 302/307 redirect with a 301/308 one.

350 ⁰

98 pages have low text-HTML ratio

About this issue: Your text to HTML ratio indicates the amount of actual text you have on your webpage compared to the amount of code. This issue is triggered when your text to HTML is 10% or less. Search engines have begun focusing on pages that contain more content. That's why a higher text to HTML ratio means your page has a better chance of getting a good position in search results. Less code increases your page's load speed and also helps your rankings. It also helps search engine robots crawl your website faster. How to fix: Split your webpage's text content and code into separate files and compare their size. If the size of your code file exceeds the size of the text file, review your page's HTML code and consider optimizing its structure and removing embedded scripts and styles.

98 ⁰

26 pages don't have meta descriptions

About this issue: Though meta descriptions don't have a direct influence on rankings, they are used by search engines to display your page's description in search results. A good description helps users know what your page is about and encourages them to click on it. If your page's meta description tag is missing, search engines will usually display its first sentence, which may be irrelevant and unappealing to users. For more information, please see these article: Create good titles and snippets in Search Results: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: In order to gain a higher click-through rate, you should ensure that all of your webpages have meta descriptions that contain relevant keywords.

26 ⁰

15 links on HTTPS pages leads to HTTP page

About this issue: If any link on website points to the old HTTP version of website, search engines can become confused as to which version of the page they should rank. How to fix: Replace all HTTP links with the new HTTPS versions.

15 ⁰

13 pages don't have an h1 heading

13 ⁰

About this issue: While less important than <title> tags, h1 headings still help define your page's topic for search engines and users. If an <h1> tag is empty or missing, search engines may place your page lower than they would otherwise. Besides, a lack of an <h1> tag breaks your page's heading hierarchy, which is not SEO friendly. How to fix: Provide a concise, relevant h1 heading for each of your page.

9 pages have duplicate H1 and title tags

9 ⁰

About this issue: It is a bad idea to duplicate your title tag content in your first-level header. If your page's <title> and <h1> tags match, the latter may appear over-optimized to search engines. Also, using the same content in titles and headers means a lost opportunity to incorporate other relevant keywords for your page. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Try to create different content for your <title> and <h1> tags.

8 pages have no hreflang and lang attributes

8 ⁰

About this issue: This issue is reported if your page has neither lang nor hreflang attribute. When running a multilingual website, you should make sure that you're doing it correctly. First, you should use a hreflang attribute to indicate to Google which pages should be shown to visitors based on their location. That way, you can rest assured that your users will always land on the correct language version of your website. You should also declare a language for your webpage's content (i.e., lang attribute). Otherwise, your web text might not be recognized by search engines. It also may not appear in search results, or may be displayed incorrectly. How to fix: Perform the following: 1. Add a lang attribute to the <html> tag, e.g., "<html lang='en'>". 2. Add a hreflang attribute to your page's <head> tag, e.g., <link rel='alternate' href='http://example.com/' hreflang='en' />

8 pages don't have doctype declared

8 ⁰

About this issue: A webpage's doctype instructs web browsers which version of HTML or XHTML is being used. Declaring a doctype is extremely important in order for a page's content to load properly. If no doctype is specified, this may lead to various problems, such as messed up page content or slow page load speed, and, as a result, negatively affect user experience. How to fix: Specify a doctype for each of your pages by adding a <!Doctype> element (e.g., "<!Doctype HTML5>") to the very top of every webpage source, right before the <html> tag.

8 pages have a low word count

8 ⁰

About this issue: This issue is triggered if the number of words on your webpage is less than 200. The amount of text placed on your webpage is a quality signal to search engines. Search engines prefer to provide as much information to users as possible, so pages with longer content tend to be placed higher in search results, as opposed to those with lower word counts. For more information, please view this video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=w3-obcXkyA4>. How to fix: Improve your on-page content and be sure to include more than 200 meaningful words.

8 uncompressed pages

8 ⁰

About this issue: This issue is triggered if the Content-Encoding entity is not present in the response header. Page compression is essential to the process of optimizing your website. Using uncompressed pages leads to a slower page load time, resulting in a poor user experience and a lower search engine ranking. How to fix: Enable compression on your webpages for faster load time.

4 pages don't have enough text within the title tags

4 0

About this issue: Generally, using short titles on webpages is a recommended practice. However, keep in mind that titles containing 10 characters or less do not provide enough information about what your webpage is about and limit your page's potential to show up in search results for different keywords. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Add more descriptive text inside your page's <title> tag.

3 pages have too much text within the title tags

3 0

About this issue: Most search engines truncate titles containing more than 70 characters. Incomplete and shortened titles look unappealing to users and won't entice them to click on your page. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Try to rewrite your page titles to be 70 characters or less.

1 image doesn't have an alt attribute

About this issue: Alt attributes within tags are used by search engines to understand the contents of your images. If you neglect alt attributes, you may miss the chance to get a better placement in search results because alt attributes allow you to rank in image search results. Not using alt attributes also negatively affects the experience of visually impaired users and those who have disabled images in their browsers. For more information, please see these articles: Using ALT attributes smartly: <https://webmasters.googleblog.com/2007/12/using-alt-attributes-smartly.html> and Google Image Publishing Guidelines: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/114016?hl=en>. How to fix: Specify a relevant alternative attribute inside an tag for each image on your website, e.g., "".

900 URLs with a permanent redirect

About this issue: Although using permanent redirects (a 301 or 308 redirect) is appropriate in many situations (for example, when you move a website to a new domain, redirect users from a deleted page to a new one, or handle duplicate content issues), we recommend that you keep them to a reasonable minimum. Every time you redirect one of your website's pages, it decreases your crawl budget, which may run out before search engines can crawl the page you want to be indexed. Moreover, too many permanent redirects can be confusing to users. How to fix: Review all URLs with a permanent redirect. Change permanent redirects to a target page URL where possible.

900 ⁰

31 pages need more than 3 clicks to be reached

About this issue: A page's crawl depth is the number of clicks required for users and search engine crawlers to reach it via its corresponding homepage. From an SEO perspective, an excessive crawl depth may pose a great threat to your optimization efforts, as both crawlers and users are less likely to reach deep pages. For this reason, pages that contain important content should be no more than 3 clicks away from your homepage. How to fix: Make sure that pages with important content can be reached within a few clicks. If any of them are buried too deep in your site, consider changing your internal link architecture.

31 ⁰

28 pages have only one incoming internal link

About this issue: Having very few incoming internal links means very few visits, or even none, and fewer chances of placing in search results. It is a good practice to add more incoming internal links to pages with useful content. That way, you can rest assured that users and search engines will never miss them. How to fix: Add more incoming internal links to pages with important content.

28 ⁰

15 pages have more than one H1 tag

About this issue: Although multiple `<h1>` tags are allowed in HTML5, we still do not recommend that you use more than one `<h1>` tag per page. Including multiple `<h1>` tags may confuse users. How to fix: Use multiple `<h2>`-`<h6>` tags instead of an `<h1>`.

15 ⁰

4 links on this page have no anchor text

About this issue: This issue is triggered if a link (either external or internal) on your website has an empty or naked anchor (i.e., anchor that uses a raw URL), or anchor text only contains symbols. Although a missing anchor doesn't prevent users and crawlers from following a link, it makes it difficult to understand what the page you're linking to is about. Also, Google considers anchor text when indexing a page. So, a missing anchor represents a lost opportunity to optimize the performance of the linked-to page in search results. How to fix: Use anchor text for your links where it is necessary. The link text must give users and search engines at least a basic idea of what the target page is about. Also, use short but descriptive text. For more information, please see the "Use link wisely" section in Google's SEO Starter Guide https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/7451184?hl=en&ref_topic=9460495&authuser=0

4 ⁰

2 subdomains don't support HSTS

About this issue: HTTP Strict Transport Security (HSTS) informs web browsers that they can communicate with servers only through HTTPS connections. So, to ensure that you don't serve unsecured content to your audience, we recommend that you implement HSTS support. How to fix: Use a server that supports HSTS.

2 ⁰

1 link on this page has non-descriptive anchor text

 1

About this issue: This issue is triggered if a non-descriptive anchor text is used for a link (either internal or external). An anchor is considered to be non-descriptive if it doesn't give any idea of what the linked-to page is about, for example, "click here", "right here", etc. This type of anchor provides little value to users and search engines as it doesn't provide any information about the target page. Also, such anchors will offer little in terms of the target page's ability to be indexed by search engines, and as a result, rank for relevant search requests. For more information on the criteria used to trigger this check, refer to kb article title. How to fix: To let users and search engines understand the meaning of the linked-to page, use a succinct anchor text that describes the page's content. For best practices on how to optimize your anchor text, refer to the "Write good link text" section in Google's Search Engine Optimization (SEO) Starter Guide https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/7451184?hl=en&ref_topic=9460495&authuser=0.

Duplicate content

i About this issue: Webpages are considered duplicates if their content is 85% identical. Having duplicate content may significantly affect your SEO performance. First of all, Google will typically show only one duplicate page, filtering other instances out of its index and search results, and this page may not be the one you want to rank. In some cases, search engines may consider duplicate pages as an attempt to manipulate search engine rankings and, as a result, your website may be downgraded or even banned from search results. Moreover, duplicate pages may dilute your link profile. How to fix. Here are a few ways to fix duplicate content issues: 1. Add a rel="canonical" link to one of your duplicate pages to inform search engines which page to show in search results. 2. Use a 301 redirect from a duplicate page to the original one. 3. Use a rel="next" and a rel="prev" link attribute to fix pagination duplicates. 4. Instruct GoogleBot to handle URL parameters differently using Google Search Console. 5. Provide some unique content on the webpage. Duplicate title tags

- i About this issue: Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate title tags only if they are exact matches. Duplicate <title> tags make it difficult for search engines to determine which of a website's pages is relevant for a specific search query, and which one should be prioritized in search results. Pages with duplicate titles have a lower chance of ranking well and are at risk of being banned. Moreover, identical <title> tags confuse users as to which webpage they should follow. How to fix: Provide a unique and concise title for each of your pages that contains your most important keywords. For information on how to create effective titles, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>

Missing title tags

i About this issue: A <title> tag is a key on-page SEO element. It appears in browsers and search results, and helps both search engines and users understand what your page is about. If a page is missing a title, or a <title> tag is empty, Google may consider it low quality. In case you promote this page in search results, you will miss chances to rank high and gain a higher click-through rate. How to fix: Ensure that every page on your website has a unique and concise title containing your most important keywords. For information on how to create effective titles, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>

Issues with mixed content

- i About this issue: If your website contains any elements that are not secured with HTTPS, this may lead to security issues. Moreover, browsers will warn users about loading unsecure content, and this may negatively affect user experience and reduce their confidence in your website. How to fix: Only embed HTTPS content on HTTPS pages. Replace all HTTP links with the new HTTPS versions. If there are any external links leading to a page that has no HTTPS version, remove those links.

Broken internal JavaScript and CSS files

- i About this issue: A broken JavaScript or CSS file is an issue that should be watched out for on your website. Any script that has stopped running on your website may jeopardize your rankings, since search engines will not be able to properly render and index your webpages. Moreover, broken JS and CSS files may cause website errors, and this will certainly spoil your user experience. How to fix: Review all broken JavaScript and CSS files hosted on your website and fix any issues.

Unminified JavaScript and CSS files

- About this issue: Minification is the process of removing unnecessary lines, white space and comments from the source code. Minifying JavaScript and CSS files makes their size smaller, thereby decreasing your page load time, providing a better user experience and improving your search engine rankings. For more information, please see this Google article <https://developers.google.com/web/fundamentals/performance/optimizing-content-efficiency>. How to fix: Minify your JavaScript and CSS files. If your webpage uses CSS and JS files that are hosted on an external site, contact the website owner and ask them to minify their files. If this issue doesn't affect your page load time, simply ignore it.

Temporary redirects

i About this issue: Temporary redirects (i.e., a 302 and a 307 redirect) mean that a page has been temporarily moved to a new location. Search engines will continue to index the redirected page, and no link juice or traffic is passed to the new page, which is why temporary redirects can damage your search rankings if used by mistake. How to fix: Review all URLs to make sure the use of 302 and 307 redirects is justified. If so, don't forget to remove them when they are no longer needed. However, if you permanently move any page, replace a 302/307 redirect with a 301/308 one.

Low text to HTML ratio

i About this issue: Your text to HTML ratio indicates the amount of actual text you have on your webpage compared to the amount of code. This issue is triggered when your text to HTML is 10% or less. Search engines have begun focusing on pages that contain more content. That's why a higher text to HTML ratio means your page has a better chance of getting a good position in search results. Less code increases your page's load speed and also helps your rankings. It also helps search engine robots crawl your website faster. How to fix: Split your webpage's text content and code into separate files and compare their size. If the size of your code file exceeds the size of the text file, review your page's HTML code and consider optimizing its structure and removing embedded scripts and styles.

Missing meta description

- i About this issue: Though meta descriptions don't have a direct influence on rankings, they are used by search engines to display your page's description in search results. A good description helps users know what your page is about and encourages them to click on it. If your page's meta description tag is missing, search engines will usually display its first sentence, which may be irrelevant and unappealing to users. For more information, please see these article: Create good titles and snippets in Search Results: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: In order to gain a higher click-through rate, you should ensure that all of your webpages have meta descriptions that contain relevant keywords.

Missing h1

i About this issue: While less important than <title> tags, h1 headings still help define your page's topic for search engines and users. If an <h1> tag is empty or missing, search engines may place your page lower than they would otherwise. Besides, a lack of an <h1> tag breaks your page's heading hierarchy, which is not SEO friendly. How to fix: Provide a concise, relevant h1 heading for each of your page.

Duplicate content in h1 and title

i About this issue: It is a bad idea to duplicate your title tag content in your first-level header. If your page's <title> and <h1> tags match, the latter may appear over-optimized to search engines. Also, using the same content in titles and headers means a lost opportunity to incorporate other relevant keywords for your page. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Try to create different content for your <title> and <h1> tags.

Uncompressed pages

- i About this issue: This issue is triggered if the Content-Encoding entity is not present in the response header. Page compression is essential to the process of optimizing your website. Using uncompressed pages leads to a slower page load time, resulting in a poor user experience and a lower search engine ranking. How to fix: Enable compression on your webpages for faster load time.

Missing hreflang and lang attributes

i About this issue: This issue is reported if your page has neither lang nor hreflang attribute. When running a multilingual website, you should make sure that you're doing it correctly. First, you should use a hreflang attribute to indicate to Google which pages should be shown to visitors based on their location. That way, you can rest assured that your users will always land on the correct language version of your website. You should also declare a language for your webpage's content (i.e., lang attribute). Otherwise, your web text might not be recognized by search engines. It also may not appear in search results, or may be displayed incorrectly. How to fix: Perform the following: 1. Add a lang attribute to the <html> tag, e.g., "<html lang='en'>". 2. Add a hreflang attribute to your page's <head> tag, e.g., <link rel='alternate' href='http://example.com/' hreflang='en'/>

Doctype not declared

i About this issue: A webpage's doctype instructs web browsers which version of HTML or XHTML is being used. Declaring a doctype is extremely important in order for a page's content to load properly. If no doctype is specified, this may lead to various problems, such as messed up page content or slow page load speed, and, as a result, negatively affect user experience. How to fix: Specify a doctype for each of your pages by adding a `<!Doctype>` element (e.g., "`<!Doctype HTML5>`") to the very top of every webpage source, right before the `<html>` tag.

Low word count

i About this issue: This issue is triggered if the number of words on your webpage is less than 200. The amount of text placed on your webpage is a quality signal to search engines. Search engines prefer to provide as much information to users as possible, so pages with longer content tend to be placed higher in search results, as opposed to those with lower word counts. For more information, please view this video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=w3-obcXkyA4>. How to fix: Improve your on-page content and be sure to include more than 200 meaningful words.

Short title element

- i About this issue: Generally, using short titles on webpages is a recommended practice. However, keep in mind that titles containing 10 characters or less do not provide enough information about what your webpage is about and limit your page's potential to show up in search results for different keywords. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Add more descriptive text inside your page's <title> tag.

Long title element

- i About this issue: Most search engines truncate titles containing more than 70 characters. Incomplete and shortened titles look unappealing to users and won't entice them to click on your page. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Try to rewrite your page titles to be 70 characters or less.

Missing ALT attributes

- i About this issue: Alt attributes within `` tags are used by search engines to understand the contents of your images. If you neglect alt attributes, you may miss the chance to get a better placement in search results because alt attributes allow you to rank in image search results. Not using alt attributes also negatively affects the experience of visually impaired users and those who have disabled images in their browsers. For more information, please see these articles: Using ALT attributes smartly: <https://webmasters.googleblog.com/2007/12/using-alt-attributes-smartly.html> and Google Image Publishing Guidelines: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/114016?hl=en>. How to fix: Specify a relevant alternative attribute inside an `` tag for each image on your website, e.g., ``.

Permanent redirects

- i About this issue: Although using permanent redirects (a 301 or 308 redirect) is appropriate in many situations (for example, when you move a website to a new domain, redirect users from a deleted page to a new one, or handle duplicate content issues), we recommend that you keep them to a reasonable minimum. Every time you redirect one of your website's pages, it decreases your crawl budget, which may run out before search engines can crawl the page you want to be indexed. Moreover, too many permanent redirects can be confusing to users. How to fix: Review all URLs with a permanent redirect. Change permanent redirects to a target page URL where possible.

Page Crawl Depth more than 3 clicks

i About this issue: A page's crawl depth is the number of clicks required for users and search engine crawlers to reach it via its corresponding homepage. From an SEO perspective, an excessive crawl depth may pose a great threat to your optimization efforts, as both crawlers and users are less likely to reach deep pages. For this reason, pages that contain important content should be no more than 3 clicks away from your homepage. How to fix: Make sure that pages with important content can be reached within a few clicks. If any of them are buried too deep in your site, consider changing your internal link architecture.

Pages with only one internal link

i About this issue: Having very few incoming internal links means very few visits, or even none, and fewer chances of placing in search results. It is a good practice to add more incoming internal links to pages with useful content. That way, you can rest assured that users and search engines will never miss them. How to fix: Add more incoming internal links to pages with important content.

Links with no anchor text

i About this issue: This issue is triggered if a link (either external or internal) on your website has an empty or naked anchor (i.e., anchor that uses a raw URL), or anchor text only contains symbols. Although a missing anchor doesn't prevent users and crawlers from following a link, it makes it difficult to understand what the page you're linking to is about. Also, Google considers anchor text when indexing a page. So, a missing anchor represents a lost opportunity to optimize the performance of the linked-to page in search results. How to fix: Use anchor text for your links where it is necessary. The link text must give users and search engines at least a basic idea of what the target page is about. Also, use short but descriptive text. For more information, please see the "Use link wisely" section in Google's SEO Starter Guide https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/7451184?hl=en&ref_topic=9460495&authuser=0

No HSTS support

- i About this issue: HTTP Strict Transport Security (HSTS) informs web browsers that they can communicate with servers only through HTTPS connections. So, to ensure that you don't serve unsecured content to your audience, we recommend that you implement HSTS support. How to fix: Use a server that supports HSTS.

Links with non-descriptive anchor text

- i About this issue: This issue is triggered if a non-descriptive anchor text is used for a link (either internal or external). An anchor is considered to be non-descriptive if it doesn't give any idea of what the linked-to page is about, for example, "click here", "right here", etc. This type of anchor provides little value to users and search engines as it doesn't provide any information about the target page. Also, such anchors will offer little in terms of the target page's ability to be indexed by search engines, and as a result, rank for relevant search requests. For more information on the criteria used to trigger this check, refer to kb article title. How to fix: To let users and search engines understand the meaning of the linked-to page, use a succinct anchor text that describes the page's content. For best practices on how to optimize your anchor text, refer to the "Write good link text" section in Google's Search Engine Optimization (SEO) Starter Guide https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/7451184?hl=en&ref_topic=9460495&authuser=0.
